The session is chaired by Maireen McGuinness.

Ursula Von Leyen (from Germany), EU Commission President — I want to use the words of the famous British poet George Eliot. She said : 'only in the agony of parting do we look into the depths of love.' We will always love you and we will never be far. Long live Europe !

Guy Verhofstadt (from Belgium, Alliance for Liberals and Democrats in Europe) — So this vote is not an adieu. This vote, Mr President, is, in my opinion, only an au revoir. Thank you very much.

Nigel Farage (from Britain, Brexit Party) — What's not to like? I know you're going to miss us. I know you want to ban our national flags but we're going to wave you good bye and we'll look forward in the future to working with you as sovereign... [microphone cut off by Mairead McGuinness]

Mairead McGuinness (from Ireland, Vice President of the European Commission) — if you disobey the rules you get cut off. Could we please remove the flags.

Nigel Farage — That's it. It's all over. Finished!

Mairead McGuinness — Can I move now, and with a certain amount of guilty pleasure give the floor to Madam - and Professor Scott Cato. For one minute, please.

Molly Scott Cato (from Wales, Britain, Green Party) — With grief and regret, I accept that we will leave the European Union on Friday -Oh, no, here come the tears-. But we must keep the dream alive, especially for young people who are overwhelmingly pro-European. I hold in my heart that one day I will be back in this chamber celebrating our return to the heart of Europe. Thank you.

Laura Huhtasaari (from Finland, Finn Party) — Britain will triumph outside of the EU. The island nation began a shining movement that cannot be stopped. Farewell to the Brexit Party. I love you guys.

Aileen McLeod (From Scotland, Scottish National Party) — On Friday, Scotland will be dragged out of the EU against the democratic wisher of our people. And when the moment comes for Scotland to rejoin the EU, I hope this parliament will welcome us in that same spirit of European solidarity, and in the meantime, I hope very much that you will leave a light on for Scotland.

Members singing:

For auld lang syne

We'll take a cup of kindness yet,

For auld lang syne.
